The RDNA route to competence

■ 5 March 2010 - London

The health and safety RDNA tool was first introduced in 2009. With the 'season' for the 2010 RDNA appraisals fast approaching, this one-day event is designed to support managers and enforcement officers to achieve the best from the process for themselves and their teams. Delegates will have the opportunity to learn more about competence and discuss issues associated with RDNA.

Conference aims:

- Explore competence and its importance in improving health and safety regulation
- Promote the health and safety competence framework and RDNA toolkit
- Explore the use of the RDNA tool for auditing the competencies of health and safety enforcement officers – and how to check the validity of the outcomes of that audit
- Explore the management of identified development needs and the consequences of not addressing those needs
- To introduce the GRIP tool for supporting officers in interventions and for helping to address development needs
- To feedback statistics emerging from the early use of the RDNA

Who should attend?

This event is aimed at local government based Environmental Health Service Managers and Chief Officers. It will also be of particular value to health and safety regulators and environmental health recruitment consultancies.
