

CIEH Level 1 Award in Induction into Safety in Food Premises

How to deliver

This qualification has been designed to recognise an initial level of safety induction training in food premises and will benefit anyone starting work in any context where food is being prepared or produced and served or sold.

Successful completion of the training programme and assessment will enable candidates to understand:

- the importance of safety in food premises
- how to spot hazards in food premises
- reporting procedures
- importance of risk control measures.

CIEH registered trainers should develop their own training programmes based on the syllabus for the Level 1 Award in Induction into Safety in Food Premises and may choose to refer also to the CIEH Level 1 Health and Safety and CIEH Level 1 Food Safety training packs for a guide to the appropriate level and scope of content.

The training time to cover the syllabus is at least three hours and is typically covered in half a day. The time taken to deliver the programme does not include coffee/tea/lunch breaks, revision sessions or 'mock' examinations.

The candidates are assessed by an examination paper consisting of 15 multiple choice questions to be completed in half an hour under examination conditions (see 'Procedure for Examination and Assessment' in the Procedures Manual for full details on examination administration). Candidates must participate in at least 80 per cent of the programme to be eligible to take the examination.

Candidates who achieve 10 or more correct answers will pass the examination and receive a certificate. The results for the CIEH Level 1 Award in Induction into Safety in Food Premises take approximately two weeks to process. Certificates will be sent directly to the centre where the training was delivered.
