

World-class service

From micro businesses and SMEs to nationals, multinationals and corporate giants, our internationally recognised courses are used by a wide range of organisations looking to train and develop their teams and protect their reputation through health and safety compliance.

Some of our clients:

“ CIEH took our requests seriously and jumped through hoops to deliver what we needed and input their courses onto our Electronic Staff Record (ESR) system. Response times to queries were fantastic and I’m thrilled with the results. I would recommend CIEH to other trusts and NHS departments” – Tees, Esk and Wear Valley NHS Foundation Trust

“ The introduction of CIEH eLearning has given us the tools to take a proactive and trackable approach to food safety training, helping to enhance our compliance performance standards. The system is user friendly, engaging, and fits with the busy schedules of our teams, who are working across multiple sites. By using CIEH we have the confidence that we are providing our colleagues with high quality and well recognised training.” – Mitie

Dedicated Account Management

Our dedicated team of training experts are always on hand to discuss your requirements, from large-scale or tailored training to general assistance.

Jon Flatman

Jon Flatman has worked at CIEH for over ten years, during which time he has provided efficient and cost-effective training solutions to improve safety and efficiency for large-scale businesses whilst meeting their every requirement.

Helena Storr

Helena Storr has worked at CIEH for eight years and prides herself on being able to offer support and insights to a wide variety of people looking for high-quality flexible training, promoting adaptable learning and life skills for the next generation.

Liam McCarthy

Liam McCarthy has worked in the training sector for almost 18 years – both in the UK and the Middle East – and joined CIEH over four years ago. Liam takes a holistic ‘farm to fork’ approach to finding the best training plan for his clients, who are mainly in farming, food manufacturing, wholesale and catering.

Get in touch with our training experts

Contact +44 (0)20 7827 5800 today to find out more about our training solutions and to discuss your unique requirements.

cieh.org/tailored-training

CIEH training programmes

The Chartered Institute of Environmental Health (CIEH) has been protecting the public, supporting professionals and influencing environmental health policy for more than 130 years.

As a trusted, experienced organisation we are uniquely equipped to deliver effective environmental health training and have expertly designed a versatile range of courses to effectively educate and develop individuals and teams.

Why choose CIEH? Here's why 98.8% of people who deliver our training programmes say they would recommend us:

1 Compliance: With a network of over 7,000 environmental health professionals, our dedicated team ensure that CIEH training courses always align with the latest legislation and government policy as and when it develops, helping you and your team remain compliant at all times.

2 Reputation: As the leading chartered body for environmental health, pioneering professional learning since 1883, we are internationally recognised as the benchmark for delivering the highest and most credible quality of health and safety training.

3 Assurance: Served by a community of professionals dedicating their careers to best practice in environmental health, our team of health and safety experts always maintain the highest of standards in the delivery of training and knowledge sharing.

4 Value: Whether you're a micro-business or global organisation, we have the most cost-effective and scalable training options to suit you and your unique needs.

5 Expertise: Pioneering professional development in environmental health for over 130 years, our highly experienced team of experts understand every unique need and are equipped with the most effective solutions to serve your requirements in the most efficient of ways.

Online training courses

Get your team ahead with our convenient training courses, placing health and safety training at your fingertips at any time and any place.

Our wide range of online training courses provide the perfect solution for organisations and individuals looking to develop their understanding of environmental health and ensure compliance with the latest health and safety legislation and best practice.

Covering the key areas of food safety, health and safety and workplace safety at different levels to suit your needs, from Bitesize induction courses through to supervisory level, look no further than the internationally recognised experts for environmental health training you can trust.

Need even more flexibility?
Our experts are on hand to provide tailored training solutions to meet your unique requirements.

Visit www.cieh.org/online-training to find out more, or contact our training experts at +44 (0)20 7827 5800 to discuss your unique needs.

Why online training?

Adaptive: We provide the ability to customise learning content, creating bespoke training solutions featuring your branding, required content and more.

Accessible: Our mobile app brings health and safety training courses to the fingertips of you and your team, providing access wherever and whenever is most convenient.

Interactive: Featuring video, animation and games to enhance the learning experience, our training is designed to keep users engaged and maximise their effectiveness.

Convenient: With 24-hour access to our courses, including via our mobile companion app, our courses are available when you or your team need them, wherever they may be.

Value: Only pay for the specific courses you need, whether you are arranging them for yourself, your immediate team or an entire organisation.

For a full list of courses visit www.cieh.org/online-training

cieh.org/online-training

Work-based training

Boost your team's expertise with our flexible work-based training programmes.

We provide a range of flexible work-based training to help you advance your business and ensure your team's compliance with the latest legislation.

Providing great value courses in food allergen awareness, first aid, food safety, HACCP, manual handling and occupational health and safety, our scalable training solution is designed to keep you up-to-date with key policy drivers and must-know market changes.

From in-depth training materials, including presentations, activity sheets, textbooks and test sheets to certification of training, we provide you with everything you need to run CIEH training programmes across your organisation.

Topics include:

- First aid at work
- Food allergen awareness
- Food safety
- HACCP
- Health and safety
- Manual handling

Our dedicated training experts are on hand to provide bespoke solutions that meet your unique requirements.

Tailoring our training to meet the needs of any business, department or team, no matter their needs, we work closely with leading organisations in the UK and beyond to provide environmental health training that aligns with their objectives and budgets, with cost-effective solutions and discounts for organisations requiring large-scale training.

Our flexible online training platform also allows for customised courses to suit your requirements, where we can provide bespoke courses including your branding, chosen subject areas and any necessary content.

For our full list of work-based training programmes visit www.cieh.org/work-based-training

cieh.org/work-based-training

